The Masai National Park is also one of the best places to witness the annual migration of millions of wildebeest, zebras and gazelles making their way from the Serengeti across the Kenya-Tanzania border to the vast grazing plains of the Masai Mara, usually arriving in June. Interestingly, the lodge you'll be staying at for the next two nights of your trip is directly in the path of the annual migration, so if you plan to visit at this time of year, you'll be witnessing an event that no words can describe.

Of course, the park is also home to an abundance of other wildlife, including Africa's Big Five, and no matter when you book your combined Egypt-Dubai-Abu Dhabi-Kenya trip, you're sure to see the Big Five and more.

Aside from the game-viewing safaris you'll enjoy here, you'll also love the tented accommodation, especially when you see the tents and step inside one. They're literally like 5-star hotel rooms, only better, and of course, they're basically tents.
